LIFE
INSURANCE COMPY.
Which is the Best Company to Insure in?
THE Massachusetts Commissioners, in presenting their Eleventh Annual Report to the Legislature of that State, say, "More than a million of persons belonging to the cream of our population are directly interested in this question." Nowhere are the Commissioners' reports so freely distributed and closely scrutinized.

TELEGRAPHIC.

Despatches to the Evening Times

Important from the Rio Grande—Mexico Invaded by U S Troops—Gen Sedgwick, with a Brigade, Occupies Matamoras—Excitement in New York over News from Ireland—The Irishmen at Fever Heat.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 27.

A despatch received from Flake's Bulletin, at Texas, announces that Gen. Sedgwick crossed the Rio Grande on Thursday with a brigade of U S troops and occupied Matamoras. The movement creates great excitement.

WASHINGTON, Nov 28

The President has received confirmation of the above.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28

Judge Nelson, in the U. S. Circuit Court, delivered an opinion yesterday on the libel case of Isaac Cook vs. the Tribune Association. The alleged libel charged the plaintiff with being a defaulting paymaster, having lost $500,000 by gambling, and that he was a full blown knave and scoundrel. The plff. was Postmaster of Chicago, and proprietor of a newspaper there.

The alleged libel charged him with being a party to numerous peculations in office.—Judge Nelson declared judgment for the plff. on all demurs to pleas, with leave to amend on the usual terms.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.

The World's New Orleans special says:—Gen. Escobedo, with a small escort, had arrived outside of Matamoras on the 10th, his troops amounting to 1500 men and 6 pieces of artillery. Escobedo had demanded the immediate surrender of Matamoras, giving Canales until the morning of the 22d to do so, informing him that if the demand was not acceded to he would attack Matamoras. Canales replied curtly, positively refusing these terms.

The French commander Betholm, who escorted the Conducta from Guadalajara to Monterio heard of the approach of General Regules, and started out to meet him at the head of 150 men, but fell into an ambush near Colima, and was killed together with nearly all his officers.

The French forces would not leave Mazatlan as soon as Nov. 18.

BUFFALO Nov. 28.

The Advertiser has a despatch from Washington that Thaddeus Stevens has called a caucus of the radical members for Thursday to bring about a concert of action for the impeachment of the President.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.

The Herald's Cincinnati despatch says:

Lexi Crowders, Thomas Stephens and Peter Goode, all notorious characters, who were confined at Lebanon, Ky., on the charge of robbery, were taken from jail Saturday night by a mob of about 200 men from an adjoining county, and hanged. No resistance was offered by the authorities, although 30 soldiers were in line while the proceedings took place.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.

A policeman named Murch was shot in the head by a burglar this morning. The thief was endeavoring to get into a house on Clark street, and as the officer approached him fired. The officer fired two shots back, but the thief escaped wounded.

Another encounter between officers and burglars occurred during the night, in which a burglar was captured. The police force is so inadequate that the city is overrun by desperadoes. Only thirty-five policemen guard the city at night.

NEW YORK. Nov. 28.

When, at a late hour last night, the extras appeared on the streets with the exciting news from Ireland, the effect upon the city was unequalled since the news of the great victories of the rebellion.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.

The morning papers have the following specials:

London, Eng., Nov, 27th. The Fenian alarm is on the increase. Several ships of war have been ordered to Ireland. The excitement in London is intense, and approaches only in magnitude to the scene on the occasion of the news of the outbreak in India.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.

The Commercial's financial article has the following:

Money is getting easier. Banks are offering amounts freely at 5 per cent., and leading stock firms find no difficulty in supplying their wants at 6 per cent. on stock collaterals.

The banks are receiving currency from the interior. The rate on call ranges from 5 to 7 per cent.

Discounts are moderately active. Prime names are current at 5½ a 7 percent.

Foreign exchange nominal.

Gold has taken a sharp downward turn.—The improvement made in stocks yesterday was not sustained to-day.

The market is generally weaker. There is a disposition to defer operations until the opening of Congress; and until some light is thrown on the future policy of the Treasury debt.

Gold at 1:30 p. m. was 141½.

The railroad list is one per cent. lower, and after the board a still further decline took place.

Governments are fairly active at yesterday's prices.

The miscellaneous list is dull and lower.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.

The steamship Pacific arrived this morning from Portland, Oregon, with $144,000 in treasure.

The British ship Perle, for Hong Kong, takes $19,180 in silver bars in addition to the amount of treasure before reported for China by that vessel.

Dye's extensive soap manufactory in this city was destroyed by fire last night. Loss $20,000.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 28.

It is rumored that Reverdy Johnson will take a seat in the Cabinet, and the democrats will elect Gov. Swann to the unexpired term of two years in the Senate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.

The Commercial publishes the following:

Paris, Nov. 28. Napoleon has just telegraphed to his aid in Mexico to hasten the evacuation of the French troops.

Florence, 28th. Martial law will cease in Palermo on the 30th inst.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.

A report prevails that a collision has actually occurred between the United States and French troops. Nothing reliable however is known.

Gen. Sheridan despatched the troops on his own responsibility. Gen. Sheridan is instructed with large discretionary power, and his original instructions comprehended the project for joint French and United States protectorate pending the popular vote of Juarez on Maximilian.

The Post's special despatch says:

Government has received a despatch from Gen. Sheridan wherein he mentions the rumor of the occupation of Mexican soil by American troops, but discredits it. The reports are no doubt exaggerated.

[By Cable to Associated Press.]

A Fenian Outbreak.

London, Nov 27—Noon. The Fenian troubles in Ireland have assumed considerable proportions, and there is no doubt that a serious outbreak has occurred. Two regiments of national troops were urgently ordered to Ireland yesterday afternoon, and transports were being prepared all last night at Portsmouth. A large detachment of marines was also sent over to Queenstown from the war steamer Plymouth. A gunboat at Chatham was ordered to sail for Queenstown immediately. Much alarm was felt at Cork, and throughout Ireland generally.

The London Times of this morning believes that Chief Organizer Stephens will soon arrive on the scene, if indeed, he has not already.

The Globe editorially hints that a more serious trouble with the United States is really at the bottom of the Fenian outbreak.

A telegraphic despatch was received yesterday from Washington by the United States Minister at Paris. The despatch was very long, occupying many hours in its transmission, and it is believed that it relates to the Mexican question.

The Morning Herald of to day says the United States Minister, Mr. Adams, has revived the Alabama case. A cabinet meeting will soon be held, when the case will receive the consideration which its importance deserves.

It is officially announced that the government has peremptorily refused the use of the Park for the trade reform demonstrations.

LATER.

London, Nov. 27—evening The Morning Herald believes the government of the United States will endeavor to defeat the Fenian plots at a proper time.

Paris, Nov. 27th. There are rumors of changes about to be made in the French Cabinet.

Florence, Nov. 27. The Italian government has determined to send Vegezzi on a mission to Rome.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27th. The following special despatches to a morning paper have been received:—

London, Nov. 27. A marked sensation is manifested here at the prospect of an immediate outbreak in Ireland. All the London papers today, except the Post, simultaneously use strong and bitter language against the Fenians and warn them that they will receive no mercy.

The Times says—"The rebellion must be stamped out as we stamped out the cattle plague."

The News says—"England must put down relentlessly the sedition which her misrule has stirred up."

The Telegraph declares that "measures must be taken which will render it certain that the very first symptoms of revolt shall be stamped out with an iron heel."

The Star says—"Englishmen dread the odious necessity of crushing any rebel movement."

The Standard says—"Captured robbers should certainly be left to the just rigor of the law, and there should be no hope for them from the United States."

The Morning Herald, referring to the condemned Fenians in Canada, says—"There should be no loophole of escape for future offenders."

Troops are being sent to Ireland and gunboats are sailing for Irish ports.

EFFECT OF THE POPE'S ALLOCUTION.—"Malakoff," the Paris correspondent of the New York Times, thus describes the effect of the denunciatory documents recently sent forth from the Vatican:

"The last publications of the Pope and the high clergy has disgusted even the enlightened Catholic world and added many friends to the Rome capital policy of the Italians. To see men whose mission it is to preach concord, peace and good-will among men utter nothing but anathemas and curses against society and against political and social progress, is enough, of itself, to turn against His Holiness and his blind Bishops the better part of his Church. In Venetia the priests in general, and here and there the Bishops, have taken sides with Victor Emmanuel, and in certain places even headed the processions going to the polls to vote union with the rest of Italy. For this the Catholic papers in Paris cry Anathema! Anathema! and go spreading their tears about like Jeremy weeping night and day over the ruins of Jerusalem. Everybody almost in France has got tired of the whining of the Pope, coupled as it is with the most outrageous and inexcusable attacks on society. There is less interest, therefore, as to whether he abandons Rome next month, and exactly because this diminished interest is shown, it is thought he will stay. In fact, the chances are more than even that he will stay where he is. The Emperor is determined to bring about a reconciliation between the Pope and Victor Emmanuel, and he has sent his right-hand man, General Fleury, to see the King and to urge the matter on. So that we are rather inclined, at present, to the belief that there will be a reconciliation.

Special despatch to the Boston Journal.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.

Several prominent members of Congress are of the opinion that when three fourths of the loyal States shall have ratified the proposed constitutional amendment it will be valid as a part of the Constitution of the United States, and the Supreme Court will so declare it. If the Supreme Court should thus decide, it will be the duty of the government to recognize the rebellious States in accordance with the new section of the Constitution.

President Johnson's friends intimate that his message will be conciliatory in tone and that a compromise will be effected between the executive and legislative branches of the government on the basis of impartial suffrage, but those republican members who have arrived here see no necessity for any compromise on the part of a Congress, which has received such a triumphant endorsement of its official action from the loyal citizens of the North at the ballot boxes.

A PITIFUL STORY About ten o'clock on Saturday night, while a policeman was pacing his beat on Bank street, near the North river, he heard a splash and a woman's cry. He hastened to the pier, where he saw a boat put off from a vessel which lay close in shore, and rapidly pull in the direction of a dark object which floated on the water. They soon reached it, and the officer saw something taken into the boat. He then hailed the crew, and they pulled towards the pier. Arrived there they gave into his charge the prisoner, her garments drenched and clinging wet about her, holding to her breast in a close embrace the babe who was now crying piteously. The officer took the suicidal mother with her child to the station house of the Ninth precinct, where they were furnished with a clean, dry change of clothing. They had there questioned her, but further than that she said her name was Ellen Johnson, they could gain nothing more from her. So they had entered her on the record "Ellen Johnson, insane," had kept her there over night, and the next morning she had been brought before his Honor; and even now she would say no more of herself than this therefore "Ellen Johnson, insane," with her sickly babe, was committed temporarily to await the disposition of the commissioners of public charities.

Following her to the station house, however, and speaking kindly to the poor woman she visibly softened, and after a little effort she was induced to tell her story, which she did, interrupted by fits of weeping. Her right name was Emily Campbell. A year ago she had married a young house-carpenter in a town in England. Thinking that they might do better in this country, they had embarked on board a vessel. They landed in Baltimore and thence came to this city. On the way their first misfortune happened. Two large chests containing the greater portion of their clothing and effects were stolen. They reached New York almost penniless and obtained board at a cheap boarding house. Two months ago her confinement was close at hand and they had to go into furnished lodgings; their money had dwindled away and they were very poor; they owed money for their board. The wife said that her husband did not complain, but she thought he was not satisfied. On Saturday her little babe had been taken sick, and there was no money to buy it medicine. While her husband was out at work during the day she had taken up her poor, feverish infant, and had gone into the street. She walked here, there, through the crowded Broadway and up and down by streets, past elegant houses and groups of people who seemed to be so happy. But she did not beg; she could not do that. She pondered over her troubles and gradually strayed to the edge of the river. It was night now, and she could see the lights flashing here and there from vessels in the river and happy homes on the distant shores. The thought came to her that would not be a burden to her husband longer; it was but a leap, a splash, and then the waters would close over her and her little one, and they would give him trouble no more. On the impulse she had leaped from the pier, but God would not let her die, and her dress had kept her up until the boat reached her. She wanted to go back to her husband now; he lived at 140 Thompson street; she did not think he would complain or blame her, and it would be best. Then the wretched mother looked at her child and said that it had caught more cold and it was worse; it could not live. At this she sobbed as though undone. As soon as the above facts were learned an officer was sent at once for her husband to come to his wife at the station house.—N. Y. Herald.

HOW THE CALCIUM LIGHT BLINDED THE REBELS. The Charleston S. C News of the 19th says:

The front of Fort Wayne, toward which the advances of the United States forces were made, was about seven hundred yards in length, while the approaching saps were confined to a narrow strip of solid land about fifty yards across, the rest of the fort being covered by a swamp on one side and the ocean on the other. For this reason, when the head of the sap had been pushed to within two hundred and fifty yards of the fort, further advances was rendered impossible because the zigzags would be enfiladed from one side or another by the guns at the extremities of the fort.

It was under these conditions, no advance having been made for several days, and the loss in the trenches being very heavy, that the calcium lights were first tried. Two of these, with jets one-eighteenth of an inch in diameter, burning about fourteen cubic feet of gas per hour, were set up at the extreme left of the second parallel, about seven hundred and fifty yards distant from the fort. These jets were supplied from large reservoirs fifteen inches by eight feet, each capable of holding two hundred and fifty cubic feet. Both the gases were made on the island in a laboratory established for the purpose, where a detail of twenty soldiers and twelve negroes was constantly employed in the manufacture and compression of the gases for use in various ways connected with the military operations at this point, such as the prevention of blockade-running at night, of sending supplies and troops to Fort Sumpter, &c.

The two lights above mentioned were so arranged with parabolic mirrors as to throw sectors of light over one half of the fort, and the other over the remainder, the field of light being sharply cut by the diaphragm, so as not to reach below the edge of the parapet. The effect of this was to make every motion and each figure on the rebel works perfectly clear to those in the trenches, while the space below, from the ditch of the fort to the saps and parallels, was hid in impenetrable darkness. The Union riflemen and sharpshooters in fact, were able to leave the protection of their works with impunity, while on the contrary all the gunners in the fort were exposed to a deadly fire. The consequence was that within twenty minutes after starting the lights, the fort, from which a constant fusilade had been kept up ever since the darkness set in, was absolutely silenced, and remained so during the night. Advantage was of course taken of this condition to push forward the sap, and by the end of the second night such progress had been made that the eastern angle of the fort was entered, and the work, becoming no longer tenable, was abandoned by its garrison. Of course every available gun was brought to bear upon the lights from the neighboring batteries, but those dazzling points seem to have been very hard objects to aim at, for though some of the reservoirs were hit by fragments of shell, and still bear the dents so inflicted, the apparatus was never seriously damaged.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1866.

The Thanksgiving of the Nation.

Our thanksgiving of to-day should be one of peculiar fervency in a national sense—for the continued preservation of our country from civil dissension under circumstances which have at different times during the past year threatened renewed conflicts of arms. The questions growing out of the Great Rebellion, and brought upon us by the abolition of slavery, are as yet by no means settled—the conditions of reconstruction are yet in dispute—and the Union itself is still in the anomalous and unsettled condition in which the war left it. And yet all has been peace and prosperity within our borders.—No real apprehension even of renewed war has disturbed the minds of the people or the relations of trade. There has been and is an abiding confidence that the same good sense and determined patriotism of the people of the North which successfully carried the country through the war, will secure in due season a peaceful just and permanent settlement of the questions growing out of the war—and hence few men have paused or hesitated in their business from fear of renewed dissensions. The results of the great elections of 1866 have shown conclusively that the people are not to be deceived, bullied or driven into sanctioning any improper or unsafe settlement of the terms of reconstruction—and that they may be safely trusted to settle the matter by their own immediate agents. The defeated party has wisely submitted to the result of these elections; and Congress will go on with renewed confidence after the "instructions" which the people have given them, and will now say to the rebel States—(no longer with a hesitating or doubtful voice)—that they must accept conditions giving equal and exact justice to all their loyal people, or they can have no more voice or part in this government. If they continue to refuse this, they must be content to remain as they are. If they do not at once accept the amendment now proposed, more comprehensive conditions, and those more fully securing justice and equality, will be imposed.

That the whole country sees and knows this condition of things, and that it is in reality accepted, even by the hostile parties, without any idea of violent opposition—and that all have now apparently a full confidence that our unsettled political questions are to be peacefully and properly settled on the basis of RIGHT—is, we say, a matter of gratulation and thanksgiving. This was not so before the elections. There were both threatenings and apprehensions then. The Executive was almost ready to defy Congress—and his more reckless friends openly urged him to attack the people's representatives with an armed hand. All that has been changed by the potent and unmistakable voice of the people themselves, in the sweeping victories at the fall elections. Let us this day be deeply thankful for all this, and return due acknowledgments to the great Director of Peoples and of Nations.

For the wonderful material prosperity of our country, even during the war, but more especially since peace has returned—and for the great and bountiful harvests which have been so graciously continued to us—let us also give thanks—and pray that the hearts of the People may in turn for these unmerited blessings, be ever inclined towards national justice and to a rendering of individual rights to all within our borders, of whatever name or nation—and to the rendering of due honor and praise to the Giver of all individual and national gifts.

It is reported that Hon. Thad. Stevens has a plan in regard to the President, which will be a little less abrupt than direct impeachment, without previous investigation, and which would preclude the possibility of instituting proceedings which, upon trial of the case, might fail. His plan is said to be to appoint a joint committee at the opening of the session, exactly as the Joint Committee on Reconstruction was appointed, whose duty it shall be to fully investigate the course and conduct of Mr. Johnson, and report to the two Houses what action, if any, is demanded of Congress by the facts elicited.

The Boston Transcript thinks that whatever may be said of President Johnson's vaccillation, no candid person can deny that in two particulars he is consistent. He loses no opportunity to betray the people who elected him, and to pardon the counterfeiters of the national currency.

The article upon "Reconstruction" in the December Atlantic (from which we copied largely in a recent number) is from the pen of Frederick Douglas. We invite those who think the colored race fit only for slavery to peruse the article, with an eye especially to its literary ability and political wisdom.

NEW RAILROAD BETWEEN NEW YORK AND ALBANY. A new company with a capital of five millions of dollars has been formed to build a railroad from New York to Albany, on the west side of Hudson river.

NEW FOREIGN POSTAL TREATY. A Washington despatch says the Postmaster General has agreed upon a treaty with Great Britain, whereby postages to and from are to be reduced to twelve cents, to be prepaid.

HEAVY FAILURE IN THE PROVISION TRADE. Messrs. Dehon, Clark & Bridges, one of the largest of the New York provision houses failed Monday. Its liabilities are over $500,000. Four other houses suspended recently.

A special St. Louis dispatch says advices from the upper Missouri state that the Indians are again troublesome. Several boats have been fired into and a number of passengers killed.

A Washington despatch says the revenue of the fiscal year will be $470,000,000, which could with safety be reduced to $350,000,000.

Dam at Treat's Falls.

Several conferences have been held recently among leading citizens of Bangor, as to the best and most feasible plan of starting the enterprise of a dam so long needed and now so universally demanded by the public sentiment of this community.

At the conference referred to, two leading ideas have been insisted upon—

First. That the stock, charter and franchises of the Penobscot Mill Dam Company shall be offered to all our people who shall choose to become interested in it, so that it will cease to be a private and individual speculation, by being adopted as a public enterprise.

Second. That before any movement is made to raise funds for the construction of the dam, the Company shall become the owner by purchase, not only of the lands actually needed for the work, but of large tracts of adjoining lands, which will be raised in value and price by the enterprise. This purchase of lands seems, indeed, to be an absolutely essential preliminary to the undertaking.

In conformity with these ideas, it has been decided to constitute a committee, consisting of George K. Jewett, Davis R. Stockwell and Charles P. Stetson, who are to receive and hold subscriptions to the amount of one hundred thousand dollars, until the subscribers, to whom the shares of the Penobscot Mill Dam Company are to be transferred, organize and elect a Board of Directors. The functions of the Committee are then to cease, and the control of the funds raised, is to be passed over to the new organization of the Company.

As a part of the plan, refusals have been obtained of the stock, charter and franchises of the Penobscot Mill Dam Company, and of five hundred and thirty-five acres of land, for eighty-eight thousand dollars, of which a liberal proportion will be taken in stock. And this is exclusive of about sixty-five acres of river fronts in Brewer, of which conditional deeds have been executed.

Under this arrangement, and as a part of it, the conditional subscription of about forty thousand dollars for lots on Hitchborn Hill, will become the property of the subscribers to the proposed sum of one hundred thousand dollars.

The plan we have thus briefly sketched, has been very maturely and critically considered. If it is carried out, it will result, as we firmly believe, in the success of the entire enterprise. A Company, owning the amount of lands we have stated, with additions which will be made to them, and with the liberal municipal aid of Bangor and Brewer, which will be authorized by the Legislature and voted by the people, cannot fail to attract the further capital which will be needed to construct the Dam.

Until the necessary lands are purchased and massed together, it is idle to take any further step, and the lands are now offered as low as they are likely to be, for an indefinite period. They can probably never be obtained again so cheaply. Lands have just been purchased at Augusta for a similar purpose, not a fifth part so extensive, at a cost more than three times greater.

We trust that the proposed subscription will be promptly filled, so as to prepare the way for the additional legislation which is needed this winter. The subject has been made familiar by long years of discussion. What is now wanted is energetic action.

THE CASE IN A NUT-SHELL. The Cincinnati Gazette has a correspondent traveling in Arkansas, who writes that Arkansas is not a desirable State at present; but 25 years of freedom will put a new face on the country, and investments of capital may now be made here to fine advantage. Great numbers of the old planters must sell, and others—disgusted with freedom—are determined to get away. Plantations of 500 to 5,000 acres are offered at low figures. One man below Pine Bluff, late a private soldier in the 15th Illinois Infantry, has made a handsome fortune since the close of the war. He came South without a dollar, and now owns 1,100 acres of the finest Arkansas river bottom. He has produced this year over 1,000 bales of cotton. He says he has not found the slightest difficulty in procuring all the labor he has needed. He has paid the freedmen good wages, rewarded the first-class hands with extra pay, paid promptly, and fed well. He says that many planters are obliged to send every year to distant places for hands, because they oppress and defraud their laborers, who can not, of course be induced to remain with them the second year.

We venture to say that there are a hundred thousand experiences that corroborate this planter's, and not one that contradicts it. Good wages, good treatment, good supervision, will secure labor in abundance, white or black, while those who grind the faces of the poor will always find them unserviceable. Just now labor is more plentiful than employment; and whoever can and will pay for work can get it, North or South, black or white.—[Tribune.

While we think that nothing could be more unprofitable than an attempt to impeach the President, we do not agree with those who class the threat of impeachment in the same grade of folly and wickedness with the threat that was made to force the southern members into Congress over the heads of the recognized organization in each House, and by military power. The difference is between what might be lawfully done under proper circumstances, or lawfully attempted under any circumstances, that seemed to the mover to warrant it, and what could not be lawfully done or attempted under any circumstances. The House of Representatives has the undoubted power to impeach the President, and the Senate would be under an undoubted obligation to try the impeachment. Any member of the House has an undoubted right to take the initiatory step on his own responsibility. It is for the House to decide how far it shall go. Such a proceeding at this time would, in our judgment, be very unwise, and we apprehend no probability of it, but it would not be illegal. But the President has no right, and could not under any circumstances acquire the right, to put a man in the House of Representatives without the consent of the House. The attempt to do so would be a high crime and misdemeanor, and could only succeed by revolution and civil war.—[Providence Jour.

The following is a specimen of a reconstructed sentiments of the Petersburg (Va. Express

We do not know, nor do we care, into what dangers we plunge when we declare that as the result of all the reflections we have made, we have arrived at the conclusion that the United States Government is the most stupendous and unprincipled humbug on the globe. Had the Confederate government lived, there would have been one respectable government on the Western hemisphere.

REASONS

FOR INSURING IN THE

MUTUAL

Life Insurance Co.

1st. Its age. It is the oldest purely Mutual Life Insurance Company in this country, having begun business before any other such Company.

Largest Assets.

2d. Its Assets are much the largest of any Life Insurance Company in this country.

Its cash assets January 1st, 1866, were $14,338,551.51, being $1,460,022.12, more than the cash assets of any other Company, and being $7,093,522.43, more than the cash assets of any other Life Insurance Company in this country. (See Report of Hon. Wm. Barnes, Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New York, for 1866.)

Safest Investments.

3d. Its assets are invested in the safest and best of securities.

Largest Surplus.

4th. Its surplus, above its liabilities, is the largest of any American Life Insurance Company. (See aforesaid State Report for 1866, or any other year.) Surplus January 1st, 1866, $3,531,038,67.

Largest Amount Insured.

5th. The amount insured in the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, is larger than that of any other Life Insurance Company in this country—Amount insured January 1st, 1866, $84,567,265.75. (See aforesaid Report for 1866.)

Largest Income.

6th. Its income for the past year (1865) was larger than that of any other American Life Insurance Company.

Profits.

7th. Its profits all belong to the assured. There are no Stockholders to take a share (often the Lion's share) of the profits.

Largest Dividends.

8th. The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, has declared the largest dividends of any Life Insurance Company in this country.

Dividends Paid Annually.

9th. Its dividends are declared and paid annually, BEGINNING ONE YEAR FROM THE DATE OF THE POLICY.

Dividends Progressive.

10th. Its dividends are distributed in the most equitable manner. The dividends of the Mutual Life are simply the restitution of surplus premiums, in the proportion overpaid by each person. They are comparatively moderate at the first, but rapidly increase each year, until they exceed the annual premium paid, so that the policy holder has no more premiums to pay, and still the amount for which he is insured constantly increases. The dividend of Feb. 1, 1866, amounted to 80 per cent. on premiums paid by those who had been insured thirteen years, and to over 100 per cent. to all who had been insured over eighteen years.

Lower Rates.

11th. Its rates of premiums are generally lower than those of other Companies. This is especially true of policies issued on the two plans that are now becoming so popular in Life Insurance, viz: the ten years and the endowment policies.

Twenty-four years of straightforward, honorable dealing, has made its name the synonym of strength among business men, and we refer to the above abstract, and Reasons as conclusive proof that it is to-day the "Leading Life Insurance Company of the Continent," possessing:

The Largest Assets,
The Largest Amount Insured,
The Largest Income, and
The Largest Surplus over Liabilities.

News from the Capital.

An Indictment for Perjury against Sanford Conover.

Facts and Rumors in Relation to Fenian Matters.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.

This morning the Grand Jury found four true bills of indictment against Leonard Hyack, President of the late Merchants National Bank of Washington, charging him with embezzlement and misapplication of the funds of the bank; with abstracting a large amount of notes and withdrawing bills without authority, with intent to defraud.

The first indictment contains three counts, charging, first—that on or about the 19th day of January last, he, without authority, accepted a draft drawn by R. W. Latham for $1,000, with intent to defraud said Latham; second—that he made the above acceptance without authority with intent to defraud some person or persons unknown; third—with misapplying the above names and amounts.

The second indictment charges that on the 2d day of October, 1865, he abstracted and misapplied 100 United States bonds of $1000 each.

The third charges him with, on or about Oct. 17th, abstracting and misapplying a number of notes valued at $25,000, and contains a count charging that he transferred that amount to L. P. Bayne, John Honeywell and W. F. Hough.

The fourth charges that on the 11th of April last he drew an order on the Ocean National Bank for $25,000, with intent to injure and defraud the National Exchange Bank of New York.

The grand jury of the Criminal Court has also found a true bill against Sanford Conover for perjury. It commences by reciting that on the 6th of April last the House of Representatives instructed the Judiciary Committee to enquire whether there was probable cause to believe the murder of President Lincoln and attempted assassination of the Secretary of the State were incited or procured by Jefferson Davis; that in the course of their inquiry it became material matter and question with them whether a certain disposition in regard to the disposition in regard to the complicity of Jeff. Davis in the plot made at the instance of Sanford Conover, alias Chas. A. Dunnan, before Judge Advocate Holt by one Joseph A. Howe, under the assumed name of Wm. Campbell, and also certain other depositions, among others one made at the instance of Conover before the same party by one W. H. Roberts, alias Joseph Snevel, should be received as evidence.

It further recites that the affidavits of Howe and Roberts came before the committee on the 8th of May last, and testified that the affidavits were made at the instance of Conover; that they committed the contents to memory, &c., that on the same day Conover appeared before the committee, and testified that the affidavits were true, &c.

Nathan Milkman, Durbin Ward and John H. Rodwell, were to day appointed commissioners to ascertain the amount expended by West Virginia for state forces.

The President's House and the Government departments will be closed to visitors to-morrow.

Judge Advocate General Holt some time ago demanded, under the articles of war, a court of inquiry for investigation of the various charges which have been made against him alike in connection with the Conover testimony, and with his conduct in the prosecuting of Mrs. Surratt and the alleged assassins of President Lincoln.

The President has declined to order the court on the ground that he does not deem it necessary for the groundlessness of all these accusations.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.

The Tribune to-morrow will contain a reply by Senator Chaffee of Colorado to Gov. Cummings' recent defence of his course.—Charges are brought of unfairness and usurpation of power in the canvass of the recent election, and also a fraudulent certificate was attached to the table of territorial votes used against the admission of Colorado last winter.

TROY, N. Y., Nov. 28.

The steam-tug C H. Heath, engaged in local towing purposes, blew up in the Hudson river, just opposite this city, at 12 o'clock to-day. The captain and pilot, Thos. Classey, and engineer H Phillips, were blown a distance of nearly 30 feet, and so badly mutilated neither can recover.

TORONTO, Nov. 28.

The disposition of the gunboats for the winter is as follows—

The Herron at Toronto; Cherub and Goodrich are protecting the Prince Alfred, which is also laid up there. Two, Britomart and Dunnville, are protecting the Rescue, Hercules and Royal at the Kingston Navy Yard.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 28.

In U. S. Circuit Court to-day Robt. H Crowe, convicted of murder on the high seas was sentenced to be hung on March 1st, 1867.

As Rhode Island abolished capital punishment many years ago this sentence will be carried into effect at Fort Adams, on Dutch Island, which is under exclusive U. S. jurisdiction.

H. H Wightman, a deaf man, was killed near East Greenwich last evening while walking on the railroad track.

OTTAWA, C. W., Nov. 28.

It is rumored that the removal of the 100th regiment to Toronto is contradicted.

TORONTO, Nov. 28.

In the matter of the Fenian prisoners the Judges have not given their decision on the application to set aside the verdicts and grant new trials. It is rumored that the causes of delay are that the courts intend refusing the rule, and are preparing an elaborately written judgment setting forth at full length the grounds on which the decision is based. If so, it is the intention of the prisoners to apply to have the question referred to the Court of England, which must concur that the objections are well founded, otherwise judgment already given stands in full force.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28.

Alfred Zufel has been arrested here, charged with the murder of Captain Joseph Wyhe on a canal boat near Frenchton, in Bucks county, last Saturday. He has been sent to Doylestown to await an investigation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.

The Post's special Washington despatch says:

A petition is on its way from Louisiana, asking Congress to exert a territorial government for that State.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.

It is denied on the very highest Fenian authority that President Roberts has given arms to Stephens, or in any way connived at his efforts to get men in Ireland slaughtered merely to justify James Stephens criminal folly.

The Fenians in Ireland are destitute of arms, and any attempt at rebellion there at present will only result in the butchery of unarmed men.

The story that Stephens has sent large quantities of arms to Ireland is untrue, he converted everything he could into cash.

Services will be held in the following churches in this city at ½ past 10, A. M:

Second Baptist—Sermon by Rev. S. L. B. Chase—First Baptist uniting with them.

Universalist—Sermon by Rev. A. Battles—Unitarian uniting.

Central—Sermon by Rev. G. W. Field—the First Parish and Hammond Street uniting with them.

St. John's Episcopal, French St.—Rev. Daniel Goodwin.

First and Second Methodist—Union Love Feast in Pine St. Chapel.

Catholic, York St.—Rev. H. Gillen.

Orono—Union service. Sermon by Rev. S. Baker.

Brewer Village—Rev. W. Newell.

—No paper will be issued from this office to-morrow morning.

—The supply of poultry in our market this fall has been very abundant, and much better fatted than usual. The streets were full of market wagons yesterday and day before with the Thanksgiving turkeys, geese and chickens; and the extra supply, together with the mild weather, knocked prices down to a very respectable figure—even comfortable for a poor man to contemplate. Good turkeys went from 16 to 18 cents, some as low as 15—chickens from 12 upwards, ducks 15 to 17—geese 90 cents to $1.25 each; butter 35 to 40; eggs about 35; potatoes, 50 to 55c.

CONSOLATION. The ex-candidate of the Demo-Johnson party for Governor, Mr. E. F. Pillsbury, has been consoled with an appointment as U. S. Pension Agent at Augusta, vice Charles F. Potter, Esq., an uncompromising Republican, removed. The new agent commences on the 1st of December. By the way, when is Mr. Johnson's era of political repentance to commence?—and does he consider that his repentance can be to forgiveness so long as he keeps these copperheads in office for whom he has turned out good Republicans?

THE ATTEMPT TO BREAK JAIL. The Times has the following in regard to the ringleader in the attempt to break jail reported in The Whig of yesterday

Thomas Sears, the prisoner shot and the ringleader in the attempt to break jail, is from the Provinces and has the reputation of being a desperado. It is said he stabbed a man in Woodstock, N. B. He is now serving out a sentence for having stolen a watch and chain from Hubbard Hall, of Lincoln, last winter. Soon after he committed the theft, officer Walker was put on his track. He was traced to the residence of Mr. James Harlow in Brewer, for whom he was working, under the name of Ayers. He was next traced on board the steamer Katahdin where he was secured, having secreted himself in the chain-box, beneath the forecastle floor. Mr. Whitney had been informed of his character, and therefore acted promptly.

DOG THIEVES. A gang of dog thieves have been at work in our city for some time past. Many a household pet has mysteriously disappeared through their skillful enticements. We learn that a number of these pets have been secured while in transitu for Boston.—Times.

—Would Boston evening papers yesterday by Penobscot River Express per steamer Katahdin which arrived between 12 and 1 o'clock.

—The St. Croix Courier reports the death of Samuel Furlong, Esq., of Calais. He died Nov. 22d, very suddenly, while riding in his wagon, between Milltown and Calais, the result as supposed of undue mental excitement.

—Dr. Robinson, recently assassinated by Mormons, was born at Calais, Me., and was about 31 years old.

—The store of Mr. E. D. Norcross of Augusta was injured about $1000 by fire on Sunday morning last.

—The new Masonic Hall at Augusta is to be dedicated on Tuesday next, Dec. 4.

—The Farmer's correspondent recently saw at Wilton village, a slab of granite 22 feet long, 4½ feet wide, and only 2½ inches in thickness. Good splitting, that.

—The Machias Union says the Calais and Baring railroad is to have a branch extended to the upper dam, at Milltown, St. Stephen.

—The Aroostook Times says the importance of building a branch railroad from the St. Andrews and St. Stephen lines to Houlton, is attracting the attention of the citizens of that town.

—The Lewiston Journal says that Hon. James Greene of Paris, has purchased a small area of land at East Auburn, embracing the spot where the remains of his daughter were found. He proposes to fence the area and erect a suitable monument on the spot.

—We see notice given in the Calais Advertiser that Charles H. Newton and others, of Calais, will ask the passage of a law at the next session of the Legislature for the purpose of protecting the cultivation of fish in the waters of the Magurrawock and Beaver lakes.

—In mentioning the Bath, Richmond and Gardiner routes for the Kennebec and Wiscasset railroad, we should have said that the Augusta people have also a route for the new road to reach the Kennebec at their city.

—The Lewiston Journal says a meeting was held on Saturday, in that city, to talk over a project recently mooted, for the division of Lewiston and the incorporation of the rural portions into a new town. Mayor Frye presented the facts and argued against the movement, while others favored it.

AN EXTRAORDINARY WAIF. The Government light-house steamer Iris, Captain Green, while between Grand Menan and Cross Island a few days since, discovered swimming in the water half a mile from shore, a fine buck deer. The deer was captured, given comfortable quarters in the hold of the steamer and taken to Portland.

FIRE IN KENNEBUNK. The building in Kennebunk village known as Washington Hall, owned by the heirs of the late Phineas Stevens and Capt. John C Lord, was burnt between 2 and 3 o'clock on Sunday morning, the 25th inst. It was occupied by Chas. C Stevens, watch-maker, Geo. W. Oakes, bookseller; the Selectmen's office and Wm. Downing for the storing of bulky articles of merchandise.—[Saco Dem.

—A large portion of the burnt district of Augusta laid waste by the great fire of last year, has already been covered by permanent and elegant blocks of stores, and the remainder will be speedily restored to a better than its former condition. The Farmer of this week contains a list of thirty new buildings and blocks which have cost over $300,000; Besides these are a large number of wooden and temporary buildings.

—The Machias "dyke" (intended to recover a tract of marsh land on the side of Machias river) broke through on Friday last, as we learn from The Union. The sluice which was built and put in its place in September, at a cost of twelve or fifteen hundred dollars, was lifted from its bed and floated of up towards Marshfield bridge leaving the whole central part of the dyke, which was about finished, open and exposed to the action of the tides, which will no doubt wash much of it away.

—The Bath Times says Joseph H. Beckwith enlisted from Pittsfield in 1861 and was shortly after reported killed. The story of his death was corroborated by the statement of a comrade to the effect that he was present and saw his burial. Beckwith's mother had put in a claim for a pension, with all the evidences as to the soldier's death deemed necessary. Last week the missing soldier reported in person to his friends at Pittsfield. He says he was for a long time in a rebel prison, from which he finally escaped, and that ill health had prevented him from coming home before.

—The Star says the new Custom House in Portland will occupy all the square bounded by Commercial, Pearl, Fore and Custom House streets, with its principal front on Commercial street. The central part of the basement will be occupied as the Warehouses, with the appraiser's and examiner's rooms on the same floor. The general business room, on the level of Fore street, but accessible form Commercial street, is 60 by 34 feet, occupying the space of the second and third stories. The Collector's, Surveyor's and other offices are on this floor.—Rooms for the Assessor and Collector of Internal Revenue are provided in the upper story, and reached by the Fore street entrance.

The Post Office will be altogether different in design and material from the present building. It will be of white marble, of a composite style of architecture. The plan provides for a portico on Middle street, with a facade supported by Corinthian columns.

INCOME TAXES—THIRD DISTRICT. The Farmer publishes a list of tax-payers in the Third District and says that the number of such tax-payers is as follows: Kennebec 319; Lincoln 98; Somerset 74. Total 491. The aggregate amount assessed upon these persons is $29,740 44. Kennebec pays $22,089 20; Lincoln $3,592 39; Somerset $4,108 85. It will be seen by comparison with the list for 1864 that the income revenue of the District has materially diminished. The entire amount assessed for that year was $36,451 45, showing a falling off of $6,711, or one-sixth of the tax of 1864. The number of tax-payers in Augusta for 1865 was 104 against 194 for 1864, and the falling off of the tax is more than one half, amounting in 1864 to $11,933 33, and in 1865 to $5,636 10. This reduction is accounted for by the losses occasioned by the great fire of September, 1865—many of the largest tax-payers of the previous year suffering severely on that occasion. The heaviest tax-payer in the District continues to be Mr. Charles M. Bailey, the extensive oil-cloth manufacturer at East Winthrop, who pays $2,362 50 against 2,049 37 the preceding year. The next largest are John Ward of Athens and Alden Sampson of Manchester, the first named pays $1,898 25 against $758 90 in 1864, and the second, $1,212 50 against $957 50 in 1864. The heaviest tax paid in Augusta is by Erastus Bartlett Esq, amounting to $876 10.

A man named John Pillsbury has been sentenced in Massachusetts to four years in the State Prison for stealing demijohns.—He was a skillful thief, and had come to be known as "The Demijohn Man."

LITTLE WANDERERS' HOME. Since the opening of the Baldwin place Home for Little Wanderers, which was about eighteen months ago, over eleven hundred children have been received into the Home, and between four and six hundred have been placed in well selected homes in various parts of the country, but mostly in the West. The Home has accomplished a work second to no other institution in this country, and deserves the patronage of the public.—Boston Herald.

Items in General.

The "local" of the Lynchburg (Va.) News thus describes a happy sight which he witnessed on Monday in that city:—"We saw a woman yesterday from the country, promenading Bridge street, underneath a new spoon-bowl hat decked with a rooster feather, inside of a tilting 'skeert,' before a huge waterfall, having in her mouth a corncob pipe, and in her arms a baby about two months old. She looked like she felt she was in Mahomet's Seventh Heaven, and was just ready to exclaim, 'cut my straps and let me go to glory!' She was a curiosity."

A new kind of hemp has been discovered in Nevada, which is said to be superior to any textile material now in use. The fibre is longer, finer and stronger than any common hemp, longer than flax and more abundant in proportion to the wood, more easily separated from the wood than either and can be stripped clean from the stock without any preparation. Large quantities of it are now growing in the Humboldt valley.

The steamship Great Republic, which was launched at New York last week, is said to be the largest American vessel ever built.—Her dimensions are as follows:—Extreme length, 380 feet; breadth of beam, 50 feet; depth 31 feet 6 inches. Her custom house measurement is 4609 tons and her carpenter's measurement about 5200 tons.

A Vermont dry goods merchant thus treats a case of theft:—"The female who carried off a pair of black kid gloves from our store, took also, by mistake, doubtless, half of another pair. She is respectfully requested to return the odd glove, or to come and get the one left, as a single individual is poor stock until mated."

Mr. Brady of New York once said to a celebrated Rhode Island lawyer; "Who do you vegetate in a little country village?—Why don't you go to New York, where you could find a proper sphere for your talents, and would certainly rise to fortune and distinction?" "Little country village!" replied the lawyer; "take the thieves, pickpockets and gamblers out of New York and it is not so much bigger place than Wickford as you think it is."

An immense locomotive recently drew a train of 227 cars, corrying 1200 tons of coal, over the Lehigh River Railroad, in Pennsylvania. The train formed one monster S while passing around the curves in Mauch Chunk.

It is a curious fact that negro suffrage once existed in Tennessee, and to it, at one time, John Bell owed his seat in Congress.

A United States company has got the consent of the Emperor of China to lay a cable from the Western Union Extension Company's lines on the north to Shanghae.

ANOTHER REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIER.—The Republican, published at Meadville, Pennsylvania, denies the statement published in this and other papers that the next report of the Secretary of War would show that there is in Sandusky, Cattaraugus county, N. Y., and old Revolutionary soldier, Matthias Bakeman by name, who draws a pension from Government. He was born in 1755, and is therefore now 111 years old. His wife, who was one year younger than himself, died about three years ago; and his daughter, fourscore years and more, keeps house for him. The old man enjoys remarkably good health for one of such advanced years, and walks to the village, half a mile from his residence, every two or three days. On each Fourth of July he takes his old fowling piece and goes out into the fields, where he blazes away a salute in honor of Independence Day.

The house of Mrs. James Taylor, No. 172 South 6th street, Jersey City, was entered by thieves on Thursday afternoon, during the absence of the family, and robbed of money, jewelry, and lace to the amount of $2,000. Mrs. Taylor came home during the operations of the thieves, and was unable to gain immediate access, as the doors were bolted inside, and gave the fellows time to escape by the rear way. Over $1,000 worth of property was found gathered up ready to carry off.

CONFESSION IN THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND. The fact that the Roman Catholic custom of confession has been of late years gaining ground among the High Church party in England, has often been asserted. At length Dr. Fusey himself, in a letter to the London Times, acknowledges it and evidently rejoices over it. He says:

"The use of confession among us all—priests and people—is very large. It pervades every rank, from the peer to the artisan or the peasant. In the course of this quarter of a century (to instance my own experience, which I must know), I have been applied to receive confessions from persons in every rank, of every age, old as well as young, in every profession, even those which you would think least accessible to it—army, navy, medicine, law."

ARTIFICIAL EYESIGHT—Singular if True. The Revue Francaise says that a French physician, Dr. Blanchet, having arrived at the conclusion that we do not see with the eyes, but with the brain through the eyes, experimented with a view to find some means of conveying the rays of light through diseased eyes to the retina. After eighteen years of study he has at length perfected a discovery which must be of the greatest importance. By the aid of a little glass cylinder, to which he gives the name port lumiere, he puts the optic nerve again in communication with the exterior world and enables the blind to see. It is difficult, however to believe that vision so obtained can be equally distinct with that of the natural eye.

EARTHQUAKE. We find the following in the San Francisco Occidental:

The ship Imperial arrived in port from Kodiak, bringing intelligence of a frightful earthquake at that island, about 4 o'clock P. M., on the 5th of September. Three houses and every chimney in town were knocked down. The captain of the Imperial says that the sensations produced were beyond description. The vessel appeared, as though she was dragged at railroad speed over the rocks. Huge masses of stone, which had lain unmoved for centuries, were torn from their resting place on the mountain sides, and hurled with deafening noise to the bottom of the valley below. Although great damage was done to property no lives were lost. Kodiak is an island of Russian America, southeast of the Peninsula of Aliaska. It is of very irregular shape, about seventy-five miles in length by fifty in breadth. The surface is mountainous. On the north side is the harbor and station of St. Paul, in which the Imperial was lying at the time of the earthquake.

"MANIFEST DESTINY." It is very evident that the Southern States must grant the right of suffrage to the race recently emancipated from bondage, and it is amusing to witness the alacrity with which Northern Democrats who were once the especial champions of the peculiar institution now demand that those who were thought to have no rights of citizenship be at once made voters. Some of the "re-constructed" Southerners now in this city appear equally anxious to accept universal suffrage, but they demand in return the immediate admission of their Senators and Representatives. Whether Congress will permit those whose mad acts have caused such a national loss of blood and of treasure to at once return to power remains to be seen, but it is now a fixed fact that color is not to exclude a citizen from the ballot-box. Even those Democratic politicians whose ideas of national policy are governed entirely by expediency now forget all they have said about "an inferior race," and prate glibly about impartial suffrage.—"The world moves."—[Cor. of the Boston Journal.

The printing offices and editorial rooms of the principal newspaper in Lima are enclosed within a lovely garden of flowers, sparkling fountains and gold-fish, and tame, gaudily-plumed, sweetly-whistling birds, who never desert their little Eden spot, where contentment grows from them like the very flowers whose honey they love to sip." Important to Lumbermen AND Owners of Hemlock Lands.
THE AMERICAN PATENTED IMPROVEMENT TANNING COMPANY of New York own the exclusive right in the United States for the manufacture of an imperishable "EXTRACT" from Hemlock Bark for tanning purposes. The Bark Extract is now extensively used among Tanners, and the demand for it is rapidly increasing. It commands a ready sale in the Boston, New York and Philadelphia markets, at sixty cents per gallon. The appliances for manufacturing are simple and not expensive, costing but little more than the ordinary leaches used by Tanners. By this process two cords of bark may be reduced so as to concentrate the entire strength into forty gallons of Extract, without in the slightest degree injuring its tanning qualities, and as a cost not exceeding one dollar per cord. The saving in freight alone, between the transportation of the Extract and the Bark, will range from six to eight dollars per cord, so that any one who may get out but three hundred cords of Bark per year, may save from two thousand to twenty-five hundred dollars in the difference in freight.
The Company does not propose to sell Territorial rights, but will grant exclusive privilege to manufacture in certain localities, charging a small royalty per gallon on the amount manufactured.
The Company will send competent men to superintend the construction of works, where parties desire to enter into the business, and to instruct in the manufacture of the Extract.
As a guarantee of success to parties entering into this business, the Company will contract to take all the Extract manufactured under their process at fifty cents per gallon, delivered in Boston or New York.
Parties in New England desiring further information as to terms, &c., may call upon or address Mr. THOMAS W. JOHNSON, General Agent of the Company, at the American House in Boston, where models of the apparatus may be seen.

Trip Lightly.

Trip lightly over trouble,
Trip lightly over wrong,
We only make grief double
By dwelling on it long.
Why clasp woe's hand so tightly?
Why sigh o'er blossoms dead?
Why cling to forms unsightly?
Why not seek joy instead?

Trip lightly over sorrow
Though all the day be dark;
The sun may shine to-morrow,
And gaily sing the lark:
Fair hopes have not departed,
Though roses may have fled;
Then never be down-hearted,
But look for joy instead.

Trip lightly over sadness,
Stand not to rail at doom:
We're pearls to strike of gladness,
On this side of the tomb;
Whilst stars are nightly shining
And the Heaven is over-head,
Encourage not repining,
But look for joy instead.

Life.

A breath of spring, a summer breeze,
The song of birds and budding trees,
Then autumn winds and fading bowers,
A biting frost and leafless flowers,
With blinding sleet and stainless snow,
A wail, and out of the world we go.

Then pearly gates, and crystal streams,
Unfading flowers, and heavenly beams—
With hopes attained, and longings stilled,
And hungerings of the spirit filled,
Celestial songs on harps of gold,
With shouts of praising, and life untold.

THE IMMENSE MANUFACTURY BUSINESS OF PITTSBURG. A correspondent gives the following information regarding the manufacture of steel in Pittsburg, Pa.:

Half the steel made in the United States is manufactured here, and one-third of the glass; it controls both interests; in nails it divides the manufacture with southeastern Massachusetts; it is Lowell, Lawrence, Easton, Chicopee, Worcester, Hartford, and half dozen other of your eastern manufacturing centres rolled into one. At the head of the navigable western waters, the very focus of the grand central valley of the continent, whose eye sweeps over the whole, it is a very creator and source for it all. It counts 500 large manufacturing establishments, including 50 glass factories, 31 rolling mills, 46 iron foundries, 58 oil refineries, 37 machine shops, 12 boiler works, 7 steel manufactories, 10 brass foundries, 15 potteries, 5 cotton and 4 woolen factories, 9 plow factories, 10 shops for heavy forging, with white lead, chemical, saw, ax and copper works, yielding altogether a total annual product of one hundred million dollars. Iron and steel in various forms are a third of all this, the other metals about two millions, glass five millions, oil ten millions. The manufacture of steel has grown up almost wholly in America within seven years. Pittsburg is its birth-place and chief centre; and now 400,000 tons used in the United States, full half is made at home, and more than half of that half here. The quality of the home-made steel has fast progressed to that of the best foreign; it is now used for the finest cutlery and swords, and such fastidious establishments as that of the Ames Company in Chicopee give it warm approval and extensive adoption in their delicate manufactures. The turning of iron into steel is a delicate operation, requiring great skill and quick perceptions in the workman. At the beginning is pig iron, the first and coarser product of the ore; then the pig iron is refined by fire and manipulation into bloom iron; this is next roasted in pure charcoal for two weeks for the carbonization which is the distinctive change sought to be gained; then the metal rolled into light thin bars, and these carefully broken by hand and hammer into small bits, and the impure pieces carefully culled out; pots of about two gallons in size are filled with these bits of carbonized iron, and placed within the hottest of charcoal and coke fires, and carefully watched and tended; at a given moment—to be told by opening the crucible or pot, and looking into the yellow-white fiery contents—the crucible is withdrawn, and its contents carefully poured into a mould, and cooling, become an ingot of pure steel. The best steel made in the country is wrought out from the 'spathic' ore found in the Housatonic valley of Connecticut and Massachusetts; none other such ore is known in the United States; the iron ores of Lake Superior, Lake Champlain and the Cornwall hills in the Lebanon valley of Pennsylvania are 'magnetic;' while all the other iron ores of Pennsylvania are 'hematite.' Ores from other sections, particularly Lake Superior, are brought to Pittsburg in considerably quantities to mix with the native ores, and so produce different and in some cases better metals. Perhaps one-half the ore worked at Pittsburg are brought from other States and one-fifth of those worked in the whole State.

ANECDOTES OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN. W. O. Stoddard is writing reminiscences of Mr. Lincoln for the New York Citizen. From his twelfth contribution we extract the following:

Everybody knows how strong were Mr. Lincoln's personal attachments, but it was somewhat peculiar how generally his interest in any individual extended itself to all his kith and kin. It was almost enough to have seen or heard of one of his old associates to secure a pleasant greeting, at least, at his hands.

I remember once having a personal report to make about a certain general officer, who had, I was persuaded, been sadly slandered, and whose brother was an active War Democratic politician at the North, and rather a favorite with Mr. Lincoln. Before he would give me a chance to open my budget, he interrupted me with—

'Well, first, Stoddard, what do you think of Fred.——? I want to know that first.'

'Mr. President, Gen.——is an honest man—you may rely upon it.'

'I am delighted to hear you say so. I rather thought he was, and was afraid they would make out something against him. You see, I don't know him, never saw him in my life; put I like his brother here first-rate. He is one of the best men, for a Democrat, we've got. I like him, and should have been very sorry to hear anything bad of his brother. Go on now, let's hear all about it.'

Fortunately I was able to make my position pretty clear by the time I got through, and was promptly ordered to the War Office to tell my story. Before I had completed it, a thing happened which I will put on record here as giving a glimpse of the real character of the great War Secretary.

I was sitting by Mr. Stanton in his private office, when a messenger from the telegraph room brought in a war telegram and handed it to the Secretary. He read it through and gave it to me saying:

'What do you think of that, Mr. Stoddard?'

I read it hastily. It was Gen. Sheridan's announcement of his first great victory over Early, in the Valley, for this was in September, 1864. As I returned the paper, Mr. Stanton said, in a somewhat excited voice:

'This is the turning point, sir!' And, jumping up, rushed out into the crowded ante-room and hall, shouting the news with all the enthusiasm of a newsboy. I never thought before that the somewhat grim and silent War Minister was capable of such an escapade.

He gave me back the telegram in a moment saying:

'Take that to His Excellency! That's news enough for one day. No more work after that.'

And sure enough, there was but little attention paid to routine duty that afternoon, and a part, at least, of the official population of Washington, was as badly demoralized as Early's army, before the celebration was over. Somehow, it was pretty generally felt, without much calculation on the subject, that the victory in the Valley was a sort of sure earnest of better things to come. Nor was the idea an erroneous one, for once our instincts did not deceive us as to the value of our war news.

Mr. Lincoln's attachment to Mr. Stanton arose less from any merely personal feeling, than from a thorough conviction of his patriotism and business efficiency. Great efforts were persistently made to unseat Mr. Stanton from his place in Mr. Lincoln's good opinion; nor were efforts confined at all times to fair argument, or even to political pressure. Darker accusations than any lack of ability were by no means uncommon, but the President remained to the last firm in support of his unpopular assistant. His reply, to a gentleman who was very temperately urging the substitution of General Banks, was somewhat after this fashion.

"Gen. Banks is doubtless a very able man and a very good man for the place, perhaps; but how do I know that he will do any better than Stanton? You see, I know what Stanton has done, and think he has done pretty well, all things considered. There are not many men who are fit for Stanton's place. I guess we may as well not trade until we know we are making a good bargain."

SCENES IN A RITUALIST CHURCH. The Bridgewater (England) Mercury recounts the particulars of a disgraceful scene which occurred one Saturday in October in Northmoor-green Church. Mr. Hunt commenced the morning service soon after eleven o'clock, and proceeded for a time in the ordinary way, when it was suddenly interrupted by a great commotion being observed near the door, immediately followed by a loud burst of laughter and a stamping of feet, the evident intention being to create as much noise as possible. The cause of this tumult was the entry into the church of two women and four men, attired in what they designated their "vestments." These consisted for the most part of several pieces of paper, either pinned or sewn together, in the form of a cloak, and intended to represent a cope (similar to that worn by Mr. Hunt in his "high celebrations"). The paper was of various colors, and consisted of strips of paper hangings. On the back, in the gayest colors, were pieces of paper arranged in the form of a large cross. Pieces of large placards, printed on different colored paper, pages of illustrated periodicals, &c., fastened together, helped to complete the costume. One man wore a high "cardinal's hat," made of yellow paper; another had strips of colored paper attached to his cap, in imitation of the ribbons of a recruit, and wore in front an immense placard, "Scottish Life Insurance;" while behind was another large placard, "Sanger's Celebrated Hippodrome." Immediately after the entrance of these persons there was a large accession to the congregation of people who had followed in "the procession." There was a complete interruption to the service, and Mr. Hunt called a constable to seat himself beside the pulpit. On the pulpit, Mr. Hunt preceeded to the vestry where he attired himself in his Popish habiliments, and again came forth, preceded by his server, who bowed low in front of the altar table each time he passed it. The boy having lit the candles, Mr. Hunt knelt down, when there immediately ensued a loud noise caused by scuffling and stamping of feet, and coughing, with some laughter. Incense was next burnt, and directly this was commenced the uproar became very great. Some put on their hats. The bulk of the members of the congregation, no longer content with stamping their feet, began to hiss and hoot, and got very excited. Cries were also raised of "Put it away! and "Go to Rome!" In concluding the service, and before partaking of the "consecrated elements," Mr. Hunt lifted the vessel with both hands over his head, upon which some hissing took place. Himself and his server were the only communicants. Most of the congregation, after leaving the church, remained outside, and waited for some time before Mr. Hunt appeared, when he was saluted with cries of "Go to Rome!" Mr. Hunt was escorted from the spot by three constables.

FELLOWS' ORIGINAL
WORM LOZENGES.
WE can with confidence point to FELLOWS' WORM LOZENGES as the most perfect remedy for those troublesome pests.
INTESTINAL WORMS.
After years of careful experiment, success has crowned our efforts, and we now offer to the world a confection without a single fault, being safe, convenient, effectual and pleasant. No injurious result can occur, let them be used in whatever quantity. Not a particle of calomel enters their composition. They may be used without further preparation, and at any time. Children will eagerly devour all you give them, and ask for more. They never fail in expelling Worms from their dwelling-place, and they will always strengthen the weak and emaciated, even when he is not afflicted with worms.
Various remedies have from time to time been recommended, such as calomel, oil of wormseed, turpentine, &c., producing dangerous and sometimes fatal consequences. After much research, study and experiments, embracing several years, the proprietors of FELLOWS' WORM LOZENGES have succeeded in producing this remedy, free from all objections, and positively safe, pleasant and efficacious. They do not kill the worms, but act by making their dwelling-place disagreeable to them. In order to assure consumers of the genuineness of these Lozenges, the analysis of DR. A. A. HAYES, State Assayer, is announced—
"I have analyzed the WORM LOZENGES prepared by Messrs. FELLOWS & CO., and find that they are free from mercury and other metallic or mineral matter. These Lozenges are skilfully compounded, pleasant to the taste, safe, yet sure and effectual in their action. Respectfully, A. A. HAYES, M. D.
Assayer to the State of Mass."
